Lightroom Classic: An Adobe Personal Collection Product If you're

a serious image-editing tool user, you'll want the full-blown desktop version of Lightroom Classic, also called Adobe Lightroom Classic. This program enables you to quickly cull the images in your photo collection based on what you want to keep, then edit or enhance the selected images. This is a different from Lightroom Pro, the version of Lightroom used by those shooting for print. Lightroom Pro is an imaging tool developed for photographers who are creating high-end photographs for professional markets such as fine-art photography, advertising, and architecture. It is the tool used to select the correct type of paper (glossy or matte), to determine the best print exposure, and to fix unwanted image defects, such as glare, smears, and color-cast errors.

Lightroom Classic is focused on the needs of those who want to print their images (or preview images for print) and to have easy access to great images with edit features at their fingertips. For example, Lightroom Classic offers the following features that are not available in Lightroom Online or in Lightroom Pro: * Grain. This option lets you control the way your images handle noise created by, say, digital cameras or film. * Saturation. This option allows you to add or remove saturation in an image. It's especially useful for those who are interested in reducing or boosting their images' overall color saturation. You'll find this tool under the Enhance menu in Lightroom Classic. * Adjustment. This tool is found under the Adjust menu in Lightroom Classic and includes features for adjusting brightness, contrast, and color temperature. Lightroom Classic is also the only program that lets you get more advanced results in resizing images without losing image quality. All other image-resizing programs are quick, but tend to throw away pixel information. You can use Lightroom Classic (or Light

Men's Basketball CFU President: Ready for World Cup Qualifying Tournaments JOHANNESBURG, SOUTH AFRICA – The Confederation of African Football (CAF) has officially announced the participation of the Confederation of North, Central American and Caribbean Association Football (CONCACAF) in the qualifying rounds for the 2018 FIFA World Cup. The CAF also reaffirmed its earlier statement that there will be eight qualifiers in addition to the UEFA European Qualifiers. The CONCACAF representatives in the FIFA World Cup will be determined in a qualifying tournament starting from mid-August in England for the first-phase qualifiers, leading to next February's FIFA World Cup in Russia. The Asian Confederation is now represented by all five confederations in South Africa. South Africa will host the Confederations Cup, to be followed by the FIFA 2018 World Cup on home soil, from June 12 to July 11, 2018. In a statement to the media, CAF President, Dr. Ahmad Al-Homaizi, stated that South Africa is ready for the FIFA World Cup, with qualifying matches scheduled during the month of August, in addition to the month of June, prior to the Confederations Cup. "We are ready to host this tournament. It will be a big carnival for football in SA and the whole region. We have been getting ready for this tournament. South Africa is a great venue to host the prestigious FIFA

World Cup. We're going to get the best teams in the world, and we're going to put on a spectacle," added Homaizi. In a separate statement, the CAF had earlier indicated that there would be eight more qualifiers than the 10 UEFA qualifiers, with the number of qualifiers (excluding the European group) to be determined, as the number of associations that have signed up for the Confederation of Independent Football Associations is in question. However, the CAF has since revised its stance, saying that the conditions for the qualification had to be met and that there would be as many as 10 countries. "In terms of qualifying for the 2018 FIFA World Cup, there will be 10 CONMEBOL qualifiers, 8 UEFA qualifiers and 3 qualifiers from the AFC and UEFA.

There will be 10 and no less than 10 qualification slots for the 2018 FIFA World Cup. The CAF will also name a team to travel to Russia to compete in the 2018 FIFA World Cup.

Q: Select an option using input box in VueJS I have a component in VueJS that contains form controls. I have the following component: Forgot Password? Resend export default { name: "ForgotPass", data() { return { email: "", } }, methods: { submit: function () { // this.email = ''; window.location.href = '/login'; } } }; When I submit the form, I would like to set the email input to that of the email that I am using for the password reset. How would I accomplish this? I have been testing using a computed property with email in it, but it's not working. A: It's not an ideal way to handle this, but the only way I could think of achieving it was to set email to the current email in the form. You can access the values in the form via the v-model property:
